

Noah's Ark Summary

Noah has a wife named Rose, and she is a piece of work! With the sky getting darker, she can't believe Noah forgot his umbrella! Then God enters the picture and commands Noah to build an ark. Rose is not sure if she wants to ride in this ark if Noah's going to pilot it. Even though Rose is upset about all of the animals AND being stuck there for forty days and night, she agrees to go on the Ark.

Where else will you find the builders of an ark using POWER TOOLS—so many years ago? Rose must supervise while wearing a construction hard hat—who else would design lots of closet space in the process and don't forget a big kitchen with lots of counter space!

The rest of the family—Noah's sons, Ham, Shem, and Japheth, are supposed to be helping with the construction. It seems as though their wives, Patty, Maxine, and Laverne, have other things to do---like manicuring THEIR OWN nails! The women are not thrilled when the animals parade in two by two.

Sure enough, here comes the rain, the thunder, wind and waves to rock the boat! The humans want God to turn down the noisy thunder ---it is much too loud! Couldn't he stop the rain??? These humans have had enough---especially with 2 skunks aboard! Knowing that Noah is doing God's will is enough for everyone except Rose who thinks GOD should be listening to HER!

Everyday is just like the others---mindless chores, seasickness, each other to look at, and more RAIN. Then, one day the ark is stuck on top of a mountain, and a branch is carried back by a dove. The water goes down, and the doors open wide. Enjoy this new beginning and wonderful twist as The Children's Theatre of Cincinnati presents Noah's Ark.
